

This World Pancreatic Cancer Day, Fenway Park will be transformed into a football field, marking a historic rivalry game. On November 15th, we invite you to join us at Fenway Park for a unique educational program with the goal of increasing awareness of the early signs of pancreatic cancer.

INTERCEPTING PANCREATIC CANCER: PRIMARY CARE CAN CHANGE THE GAME

An Educational Program for PCPs

FEATURING:

JAMES FARRELL, MBChB
Yale School of Medicine

A. JAMES MOSER, MD, FACS
Harvard Medical School

Proud supporter of

WORLD PANCREATIC
CANCER COALITION.

INTERCEPTING PANCREATIC CANCER: PRIMARY CARE CAN CHANGE THE GAME

An Educational Program for PCPs

Date: Thursday, November 15, 2018

Time: 6:00–9:30 PM

Location:

Royal Rooters Club @ Fenway Park

Private Entrance: Gate B/K
(Corner of Ipswich & Van Ness Streets)
Boston, Massachusetts

AGENDA:

6:00 PM

Dinner Reception
*Special Viewing Opportunities of:
Fenway Park Transformed into a Football Field &
Baseball Memorabilia in Royal Rooters Club*

7:00 PM

Presentations

8:30 PM

Question & Answer Session

PRESENTERS:

James Farrell, MBChB

Professor of Medicine
Division of Digestive Diseases
Yale School of Medicine

Director, Yale Center for Pancreatic Diseases
Yale New Haven Health

A. James Moser, MD, FACS

Associate Professor, Surgery
Harvard Medical School

Co-Director, Pancreas & Liver Institute
Co-Director, Pancreatic Cancer Research Program
Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center

Thomas King, MD, PhD

Medical Director
Immunovia, Inc.

Adjunct Associate Professor
School of Health Professions
Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey

Brigitte Régnier

Board Member
Alliance of Families Fighting Pancreatic Cancer

REGISTER HERE TO RESERVE YOUR PLACE. SPACE IS LIMITED.

QUESTIONS? Contact Carrie Mansfield at carrie.mansfield@immunovia.com or (203) 984-5051.